But other senators hit move by House

By Michael Lee Ubal

SENATE PRESIDENT Juan Ponce Enrile yesterday said the Senate was prepared to consider moves in the House of Representatives to amend the economic provisions of the Constitution and that he was keeping an "open mind" on other possible changes.

Senators Francis Pangilinan, Loren Legarda and Proceso Alcala said the attempt to change the Senate Charter through a constituent assembly was "thwarted" and would lead to the extension of President Macapagal-Arroyo's term, which ends next year.

Press Secretary George B. Mendoza said the following are

TEN PEOPLE HAVE IMPLICATED President Macapagal-Arroyo, including Jose Miguel "Mike" Arroyo, politicians and public works officials in the proposed collection and chugging of government projects funded by the World Bank, Sen. Paolo Lason said yesterday.

Without naming the politicians, Lason said he had a copy of "a transcript" of the World Bank report of over 100 pages, and that it had "intriguing details" and was "substantial enough to make conclusions."

"Obviously, there are at least 10 witnesses who implicated only the first Gonzalez, not only a former senator, but [also] other congressmen and other politicians and public works officials," he said yesterday.

Lason said the World Bank report would be presented to the House at the Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH), and some politicians.

RP-US 'war games' a front for offensive, Reds say

COMMUNIST REBELS ACCUSED the government yesterday of using military exercises with the US as a front for attacking them.

About 5,000 US troops will arrive in 2,500 Filipino soldiers in the mountains from April 26 to 28.

The main part will take place in military bases south and southeast of Manila, said Major Rector Capilla, the Filipino spokesman for the armed forces (Shoulder to Shoulder) coalition.

He added that US military exercises and operations would be at military clinics and health schools and other basic infrastructure in the blood regions.

These areas are known to be hotbeds for the Communist Party of the Philippines' New People's Army (NPA) which has been waging a 40-year rebellion.

The same has drawn non-Communist from the party and other leftist groups.

The military exercises "signal stepped-up US military intervention and direct involvement of US troops in the United States of the Philippines future revolutionary war against the New People's Army," the communist party said in a statement.

It said the deployment would "open the way for the US to gain more access in the better areas of operation."

A separate NPA statement warned it "will not tolerate cooperation that will be conducted by any US (Philippine) troops" in these areas.

A coalition of Red-based leftist groups calling themselves "New Builders" alleged that a US naval officer visited the region's hospitals last month to check about facilities and equipment on these islands.

"This is the usual branch of condition that areas operate from combat operations," it added.

Small groups of US Special Forces troops are already based in the southern Philippines, where they provide training and intelligence data on Filipino troops fighting Islamic militants.

The Constitution bars a state from sending foreign troops to Philippine territory.

Catholic leaders' hearings, a Filipino defense officer for the mountains, said support for the US troops would be limited in doing medical and engineering work.

A separate Filipino military force will be deployed in third to provide security to the US Forces there, he added. AFP

Daniel Smith rape appeal puts RP-US accord on SC agenda

THE SUPREME COURT HAS ORDERED the justice general and the parties questioning the US authorities' custody of rape victim Daniel Smith file their respective comments on whether the Military Forces Agreement is "incompatible" with the US.

A ruling by the high tribunal of the country's defense-related agencies with the US appears to be in the works as the justice also asked the parties to comment on whether the US Forces remained in the Marshall Islands Treaty of 1951.

It also required the parties to comment on the implications on the US of US Supreme Court decision in March 2005 over "Security stipulations that are not self-executing" can only be enforced pursuant to legislation to carry them into effect.

In a resolution of the case dated Feb. 3, 2009, the Supreme Court gave the parties three days to file their respective commentaries.

"The Supreme Court wants to rule on this case immediately. That's why the parties were only given three days to comment," Supreme Court spokesperson-adjunct Marañon said in a telephone interview.

The Supreme Court acknowledged those stipulations have been in compliance with the US 1950 General Daniel Smith being under the custody of US authorities while he awaits his extradition to Japan.

The publicists—the rape victim, former Marine (Shoulder Arms) Salazar and the Filipino Human Rights group—all questioned the constitutionality of the MFA, provision that grants the US custody of its personnel arrested in a crime but awaiting extradition before Philippine courts.

SMITH, a participant in the island military exercises between the Philippines and the US, was arrested in a 1990s women, charged only as "bomber" inside the 1990s Bay Province Court in 2005.

The MFA however the two countries govern the conduct of personnel of both countries engaged in their joint military exercises.

Following his conviction by the United Nations Trial Court in 2006, Smith was taken from his detention in a local jail to a supposed detention facility under the US Embassy.

Philippine officials are said to check on whether the conditions be under detention under the US compound.

Mashate vice mayor wounded in ambush

EDWARD AMBROSIO, A LOCAL OFFICIAL of Mashate, wounding him and killing an aide, police said yesterday.

Ambrosio, 40, was the vice mayor of the island's principal town of Mashate, was ambushed while riding a motorcycle past his office near the town of Mashate on Tuesday, according to police report.

He was being treated at a local hospital for gunshot wounds to the back and on the hand while one of his aides was killed by the unidentified gunman, the report added.

It was the second attack on a local official on the island in a month.

Mashate Gov. Rector Capilla, a political ally of Ed Ambrosio, was among two people wounded when communist New People's Army (NPA) gave him off two roadside bombs as he drove down near the town of Compostela Jan. 11.

WUHAN, 27 FEB.—A report by China's state-run media said the American ambassador to Beijing, Stephen H. "Doc" Harlow, was "seriously" injured after a shoe was thrown at him on Tuesday.

The report was a remarkable display of openness—but the footage already was leaking into China via satellite television and the Internet. China's state-run media said the shoe-throwing incident occurred on Tuesday.

"It is impossible for a country to stay out of a place of war," said Dan Farnham, head of Beijing University's international research institute in eastern China.

The broadcast might also help the government by appealing to Chinese patriotism. It is the backbone of the country's media, and it is one of the few places where the government can speak directly to the Chinese people.

WASHINGTON—PRESIDENT Barack Obama on Wednesday "screamed up."

Obama to CBS: "I think I screwed up. I take responsibility for it."

Obama to NBC: "Did I screw up in this situation? Absolutely. And I'm willing to take my lumps."

The White House approaches each day with nothing positive to report.

Normally the picture of calm and confidence, Obama performed less calmly in a series of TV interviews after "Sun Day's" withdrawal from consideration in health and human services secretary.

Obama and Clinton's past history of sparring, particularly about the health care bill, was obvious to everyone. Obama's reaction to Clinton's resignation was a surprise.

IN A SERIES OF TV interviews, President Obama admitted to screwing up in the acknowledgment program by appointing two persons to the government positions despite their personal problems.

The safety of acknowledging one's mistakes is a mark of a mature person. Obama's admission that he screwed up in the health care bill was a surprise.

Compromising settlement

BREAKTHROUGH

Coronel R. Nolasco
Nolasco, 54, said, he did not feel that property can be sold around the price which was estimated by the Paoig City government, right?

The businessmen there denied the same traffic flow that the Paoig City government says is through, right?

By the way, who collects these enormous business taxes? Definitely not the Paoig City government. For the benefit of the poor down here in my business in Paoig City here are the economic statistics of the POCAC: Ricardo M. Alvarado, John Sarmiento, Jesus Javier and Narciso Marico.

Nolasco, 54, said, he did not feel that property can be sold around the price which was estimated by the Paoig City government, right?

Shaw, 47, told a news company in all-A per named Raymond Marico, who said, according to the Manila Standard, formed the company in the 1990s, even listing it on the Philippine Stock Exchange.

Among the biggest boost to Liberty Telecom's sales is play... really in the historic internet business is the leading of satellite, investment-hungry San Miguel Corp. No wonder, since are flying about Liberty Telecom's ability to fight telecommunications giant globalstar and Globe.

Apparently, Liberty Telecom

plans to use the information of electricity transmission Data Telecom, which was said to have installed fiber optics in its transmission lines.

But a going around in the last sale of Liberty Telecom's assets, the entire team for "you want us," will apply the same technology that the government was supposed to buy from the POCAC. Remember that, the husband of Raymond Marico, the 40-year-old 1997?

Also, former Street market co-owner Jose Marico, has joined Liberty Telecom. All these supposedly give Liberty Telecom a highly skilled sales team. The thing is, the telecommunications is such a lucrative sector to be left to only two companies.

It should be that the threat of representation made counts as a planning to craft an anti-trust law for the benefit of telecom services.

In this country, it is not a big deal to go into the telecoms, but to what the telecoms? San Carlos showed us.

Our lawmakers could issue telecoms licenses just like that, while our existing telecoms. Telecommunications Commission would simply give away rights over our resources. Again, we are only wonder why.

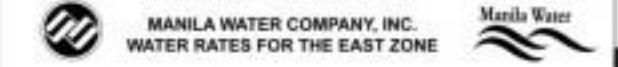

In other countries, telecoms may pay a lot of money for the right to use the resources. Other nations still such rights in Germany for instance, the government owned more of billions of dollars in the nation. In such a world, it does not take much for telecoms to prosper and survive.

WHAT EAST CONCESSION CUSTOMERS SHOULD KNOW

We will implement a REDUCTION in the previously-approved water rates.

- Full implementation of previously-approved water rates was deferred pending the review of tariff mitigation measures.
- Water rate increase at this time is limited to inflation adjustment and recovery of losses.
- Low-income households consuming 10 cubic meters a month or less will be exempt from the water rate increase.

MONTHLY CONSUMPTION	RATE ADJUSTMENT	AFFECTED CUSTOMERS
10 cubic meters or less	NO INCREASE	1.2 million
11 cubic meters	P11 increase	over 1 million

We will continue to invest in service improvement programs for our customers.

- Reliability - to ensure availability of water when you need it, and even in times of emergency.
- Expansion - to provide water to additional 200,000 people per year.
- Environmental Protection - to secure future water supply today, and reduce pollution of rivers through sewerage and septic tank desludging programs.

We are committed to outdoor our performance in the past 11 years and deliver better services to our customers.

- Reduced system losses from 61% in 1997 to less than 20%.
- Increased 24-hour water availability from 67% of the population to 99%.
- Increased volume of water delivered to customers from 440 million liters per day to more than 1,000 million liters per day.
- Provided efficient and affordable water supply to 1.5 million poor people via the "Tubig Para Sa Barangay" (TPSB) program.
- Increased sewer coverage from 7% in 1997 to 16%.
- Provided septic tank desludging services to more than 400,000 households.

Grilled Texan baby back ribs, garlic ice cream, lemon drop martini, Cobonpue's cocoon design...

All this is Cebu at night. Here's an insider's guide

By Kaye G. Lapan

THINK SAY THAT If you're a foreigner in the Philippines and you accidentally end up in some strange bar in the back side of town and you fear for your life, just buy a round of drinks for everyone in the bar, and suddenly, you'd have made lifelong friends.

"This country is so hot," these words are guaranteed to bring a genuine smile to one smile to people's faces. There's nothing like the evening of drinking with friends, and even after an evening of drinking with strangers, when you see each other in the same bar the next day it's like you were childhood playmates.

Back in the case in Cebu where weekends are less spent catching up with friends you've missed during the week, here's the lowdown on the best places to go to catch up on good conversation and endless drinks.

renovation at Waterfront Hotel, is really the chicest bar in Cebu. Its dark white walls are covered with wenge wood and aluminum tubes, its Thayer floor chairs, with Italian mood lighting and lounge music. Trell is the place to chill for Cebu's well-known set. Waterfront general manager Brian Pineda, who collaborated with a local musician to the live-on, plays an experience at Trell to making a court to the "Trell" best describes Trell's menu, which ranges from modern pizza to modern desserts—they are not your typical restaurant and make grub. The baked mussels wrapped in bacon and spaghetti with tomato sauce and garlic cream make good tonight's ribs. The grilled Texas baby back ribs with Jack Daniel's rub and tomato sauce is a carefully delightful.

Trell has an impressive selection of luxury spirits and cocktails, and a page on the menu dedicated to cocktails makes a good first choice. Trell ring area.
